Circular economy

Cities will transition towards a circular economy model, where resources are reused, recycled, and repurposed to minimize waste and environmental impact. This may involve initiatives such as zero-waste programs, resource recovery facilities, and sustainable consumption practices.

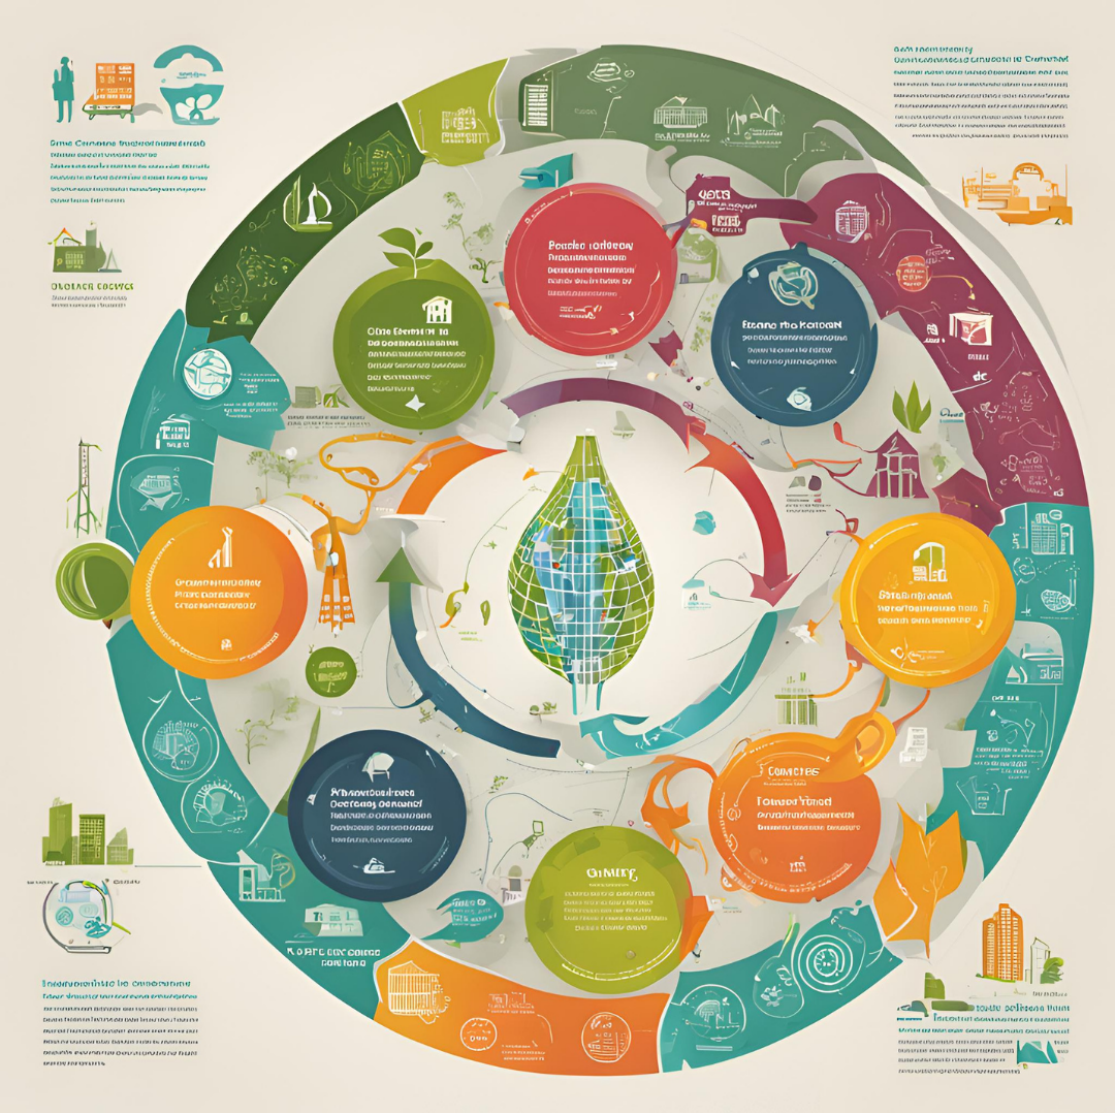

Image: AI-generated by Canva