Digital Connectivity

Cities of the future will be highly connected, with widespread access to high-speed internet and digital services. This connectivity will support smart governance, digital inclusion, and innovation in areas such as healthcare, education, and commerce.

Image: AI-generated by Canva